For the person unfamiliar with genealogical books and unfamiliar with the various branches of these families, this book may seem like a hopeless maze. Any set of statistics or genealogy records must be read carefully or studied to be understood. I have found no record of a similar book in which so many families have been traced individually and also showing how often they intertwine. Therefore I have had to improvise my own reference system to a great extent, although I have tried to stick to accepted methods of recording such data in so far as practicable.

Each hundred numbers stand for a separate generation; This is best understood by looking at chapter II, for the Nixon family is the family traced back the farthest, therefore the first generation recorded in the Nixon family was given numbers starting with one hundred, the second generation starting with two hundred, etc. The Nixon family is traced back seventeen generations from my generation, therefore my generation's numbers always start with seventeen hundred. The same hundred is assigned to my generation in each family, so that when going from one chapter to another one can easily find the records of his own generation. However the numbers for each generation start with the even hundred of that generation and number consecutively for each person in that particular family belonging to that generation. For this reason, if the same person's name appears in more than one family they will very rarely have the same number in each family but will find almost without exception, all their numbers will be in the same hundred group. Exceptions to this would only be caused by generations in the separate families being of varied lengths, and in rare cases this will cause one family to gain a generation over another family. To further explain, if by consulting the index you find your number is 1701 in your family, you will find all your sisters, brothers, and cousins have numbers that also are in the seventeen hundreds, and you will further find your parents, uncles, and aunts listed in the sixteen hundreds, and of course your children, nephews, and nieces will be in the eighteen hundreds, etc.

Since I tried to include a short biography of each person wherever possible, including in-laws, I found it necessary to assign numbers to in-laws also. I have tried to make it obvious in each case just how each person is connected with the family. Strictly speaking, an in-law should not be listed with a number and similar to the children under the heading "Issue of " etc. I do feel, however, the added clarity thus gained justifies loose use of this term.

For any errors herein, I am very sorry. I am sure errors will be found for several reasons. For example, I have had as many as three different dates given to me by three different people for a certain birth date. In such cases, regardless of how thoroughly I have checked or what proof I offered, sometimes the other two people would still consider the recorded data incorrect. This will especially be true since I have not recorded all sources and proofs. I have found the same true with legally recorded dates. Although I may personally know the recorded date to be in error, since it is recorded it is thus established in many minds as being infallibly correct. In other words, to the best of my knowledge, all information herein is correct, when in doubt it has either been omitted entirely or such doubt is plainly shown in the wording. For the last year I have worked almost entirely on bringing this material up to date, traveling extensively and writing hundreds of letters. Still it hurts me to leave some of the records so incomplete, for I know often it has been failure on my part to ask for the desired information, and if I would only take time now for another letter and await the reply, that record could be complete. Still time runs out for everyone it seems, so I can only repeat, I'm sorry.

ROBINSON, BALDWIN, AND AFFILIATED FAMILIES

I have had wonderful cooperation, it is a shame not to give them all credit and recognition. The following have given so untiringly of their time and efforts, I wish to publicly thank them here: Mrs. Mary Robinson Ramsey, Mrs. Jeanette Baldwin Ramsey, Mr. C. J. Maxwell, Mr. Alvin Keen, and Mr. Jacob Brant. I also want to add the names of two who contributed so very much but did not live to see this in print: Mrs. Eliza Nixon Robinson and Mrs. Martha Keen Ritchie.

The Nixon crest is recorded in chapter II. I was unable to determine what crests or coats of arms belong to the other families although several are on record for nearly every family name. Robinsons in England and Scotland have many family crests pictured in Fairbairn's Crests of the Leading Families in Great Britain and Ireland and their Kindred in other Lands, compiled by James Fairbairn. Nearly all show stags or bucks often combined with crowns. Crests for Haymonds, Clarks, Strattons, Norrises, Keens, Baldwins, and Clasons are also listed in this book but were not so numerous or consistant in design. The Robinson coats of arms show stags and crowns predominating in their design as shown in Burke's Genealogical and Heraldic History of the Peerage Baronetage and Knightage Privy Council and Order of Precedence. In this book there is a notation, "If you want to trace your family history or your coat of arms, to know how to obtain a coat of arms, to prepare the notes on your family for publication write to Managing Editor, Burke's Peerage, Burke's Landed Gentry, 180 Fleet St., London, England." This is given in response to those who have expressed a desire to have our lineage traced beyond America.

Nearly all work has its own reward, my reward has been keeping in close contact with so many relatives and friends although separated by many miles. It has made me very proud of my family too, for I know of no other family who could record so many facts fully, justly and honestly with so few blemishes appearing and I have tried consistantly to record all facts in this manner.

PIONEERS--Nearly all persons in this book are pioneers or very direct descendants of pioneers. To some people the word pioneer means anyone in the first few generations in a new territory, and to others it means the leaders of a new movement, but the pioneers in this book are mostly among the unsung heroes of our nation, the home-loving, hard-working pioneers that break the new sod, build the new homes, find time to form a group and build a place to worship the God they love but find little time to start all the complicated governmental and political jobs and records that later glorify their founders. They even seem to shun the complications of the horde, instead sticking to the small communities or moving on to new frontiers and seclusion. To do this shows a fearless, self-sufficient person. It takes great faith in God to trust that every need of the family you love and are the protector of, will be provided in a new frontier. Determination and preserverence are shown too, and I don't believe there is a single incident in this book where a would-be pioneer found the new frontier too hard a life and returned to his former home. To insure preservation of their records that have come to my hands, this book has been written.

To The Pioneer Woman

One hundred years ago, or more, or less,
 You braved the perils of a wilderness!
 You faced the hardships of a bleak frontier—
 Courageous, earnest, noble Pioneer!
 It mattered not that your heroic band
 Broke trail across a rugged, unknown land;
 It mattered not that danger and despair
 And loneliness were waiting for you there;
 It mattered not that you had left behind
 The comforts you could never hope to find;
 Your mother-heart was filled with faith and cheer,
 And life was good, for those you loved were near.

Yours was the spirit humble, brave and free
 That guided well a nation's destiny;
 Yours was the fortitude and wholesome grace
 That made a cabin joy's abiding-place;
 Yours was the charm and noble strength of soul
 That ever sought a better, higher goal!
 And we, who are your sons and daughters, pay
 Our tribute of esteem to you today;
 Rejoicing in that priceless heritage
 That grows more glorious from age to age,
 We voice our veneration for you here,
 Courageous, earnest, noble Pioneer!

THE AUTHOR has been asked repeatedly what relation the Keens are to the Robinsons or the Nixons to the Clarks, etc. and her inability to have a definite answer has probably been considered a lack of real understanding on her part. Perhaps this section will clarify those questions to some degree. The number in parenthesis following a name is that person's number in the chapter under his surname.

Chapter I

ROBINSON

FAMILY TRADITION says this Robinson family descends from the Pilgrim family of Priscilla and John Alden and that Rev. John Robinson is also an ancestor. There are several instances of Alden descendants marrying Robinsons but I have been unable to bridge the gap from them to this established line. Just who the Rev. John Robinson was, that tradition mentions is rather vague too, as there are several early Americans by this name. Some seem to think it refers to the Rev. John Robinson of Leyden that was the prominent Pilgrim leader who planned to sail in the Mayflower but was detained in Holland and died without seeing America. However, later some of his family came to America and have many descendants in this country, but again I have been unable to make the connection. Perhaps the following information that includes both traditions would be found, with further searching to connect with other information in this book:

John (1) Alden and Priscilla Mullens, dau.

Elizabeth (2) b. 1625; d. 1717; m. 1644 William Pabodie, dau.

Priscilla (3) Pabodie b. (1653-54) m. 1679 Rev. Ichabod Wiswall, dau.

Hannah (4) Wiswall b. (1681-82) m. (1705-06) Rev. John Robinson b. 1671. - from Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy by F. A. Virkus, vol. I, p. 317, and from the same volume p. 477, we find the following:

William (1) Robinson d. 1668; from England with Richard Mather (father of Rev. Cotton Mather) about 1635. Member A & H A Co. 1643. m. Prudence ---, son

Samuel (2) Robinson m. Mary Baker dau. of Richard and Faith Withington, son Rev. John (3) Robinson m Hannah Wiswall.

For further information about this family tradition see the reference to it in the obituary of Louisa Robinson Keen, p. 145 in the Addenda of this book.

I include this and other information in this book in the hope that someone will take up this work and that my efforts may help them to complete it. There is an organization whose name is The Robinson Genealogical Society with offices at 15 Emmonsdale Road, West Roxbury 32, Mass., whose object is the collection, compilation, and publication of such data and information as may be available concerning the Robinson and affiliated families. The president and treasurer of this organization is Edwin M. Robinson whose address is stated above. Their historiographer is Dr. Warren Leonard Robinson, 656 Columbia Road, Dorchester 25, Mass.

Robert was considered very plain spoken, often blunt. When he was dying his wife stood by his bed-side crying. He looked up at her and said:

The home of her childhood has been her home during most of her married life, where she and her husband have raised a family of seven children, two others having died in infancy. m. Eliza Ruth Nixon, Mar. 4, 1871, Louisville, Ill.
children: Sherman, Arthur, Olive, Anna, Mary, Homer, Alice.
William Haymond Robinson and Eliza Ruth Nixon were married March 4, 1871, in Louisville, Ill., near where they were born and grew to manhood and womanhood. A brother and a sister of Mr. Robinson were married the same day making a triple wedding in the family. The other couples were Mary Robinson and Enoch Hoffman, Winfield Robinson and Rachel Fowler. (See p. 11 for more information as to how these couples are related.) Two days later Winfield Robinson and Enoch Hoffman left their brides behind and started for California in quest of gold. In October of the same year the brides left Illinois to join their husbands in San Francisco, Calif.

William and Eliza Robinson settled down to housekeeping in Clay County, Ill. until fall of the same year when the desire to have a home of their own and the opportunities afforded in Kansas drew their attention to the West, so in September of the same year, with two teams and one wagon, they started following the trail of home seekers, leaving all friends and loved ones behind. They thought they might settle near friends in eastern Kansas but upon arriving there found their friends had returned to Illinois, so they continued farther west. Four weeks they spent on the road and October 25, 1871, upon reaching Concordia, Kansas, they decided to stop and look around. Concordia was then a small village of about two dozen houses and no railroad. They spent the first winter there. On Dec. 15th their baby son was born. He was christened Sherman, and was the first child born in Concordia. The baby proved to be so much care yet so much company the young mother soon lost her pangs of homesickness.

Leaving his wife and son in Concordia, Mr. Robinson went to look for a place to locate. When he reached the top of the hill where the Jamestown, Kansas standpipe now stands, looking to the west and north, he thought he looked down upon one of the prettiest landscapes his eyes ever beheld, the prairie with Buffalo and Cheyenne Creeks winding down the valley. There was not a sign of a town where Jamestown now stands. A great deal of the best land was taken, but he filed upon the homestead where he made his home nearly all the remainder of his life, two miles west of Jamestown on Robinson hill, the hill still bears that name. Most of his neighbors were living in dugouts which you could detect only by a spiral of smoke emerging from the ground. Mr. Robinson built a little cottonwood shanty. It consisted of only one room. He cut down the cottonwood trees and had lumber made at the saw mill, the boards were upright with slats nailed over the cracks. He had avoided living in a dugout thinking the spring rains would soon drown them out as of course it would have in Illinois, the climate he was familiar with.

In April, the proud father moved his wife and baby to their new home. He later built dugouts for barn and chicken house. Water had to be obtained from a spring by the creek more than a half mile away, so digging a well was the next undertaking of the young pioneer. The first well was 75 feet deep, which had included some blasting through stone and shale to get that far, and still no water had been found so it was abandoned. The second hole was about 25 feet deep where the same stone and shale was encountered, so in November they moved their shanty to the foot of the hill where the present house now stands. The move was made on skids pulled by oxen with even the dishes in the cupboard.

Many prairie fires swept the country and they fought to save their home and those of their neighbors. At such times the dugout was the safest place to be found. One day while the Robinsons were burning around their place to prevent their home from being destroyed by fire, the fire got out of control and Mrs. Robinson was nearly trapped. Several neighbor men came to their rescue and the fire finally put out before it did any harm. Another prairie fire swept the country for about three miles, jumping the creek, that was in its path. Waterville was the nearest wheat marked for years; then it took five days to make the trip with one load of wheat but they were glad to have it to haul. While Mr. Robinson was gone on such a trip the wife and children were left to look after the stock and farm. They were never molested by the Indians as they had been driven away from this part of the country a year or so before the Robinsons arrived, but since Wyconda Springs was near and was known as the Great Spirit Springs and worshipped by the Indians, there was constant fear that they would return. Two young ladies were kidnapped by the Indians a year before the Robinsons came. One of the young ladies, Miss White, later married and became Mrs. Brooks and made her home in Jamestown. She was a close friend of the family. The other young lady lost her mind as a result of the dreadful experience and was an inmate of the mental institution in Topeka, Kansas for many years. One day a covered wagon stopped and a lady came to the house. She wanted to make coffee for their dinner. She said she was Buffalo Bill's sister and that she and a companion had been travelling the West looking at places with which her brother had been connected.

About 1880, a frame house was built and additions were made from time to time. Mr. Robinson planted many pine trees in the yard and a grove of pines as a windbreak on the north, a short distance from the house. The first pine trees were planted in 1893. There were about ten pines in front of the house and by each of these Mr. Robinson placed a tube for carrying water to the tree's roots. He often carried water to them in a pail, by hand. The frame house, which was painted white, was one of the prettiest and best kept homes in the neighborhood. The lovely big pines added much to its beauty. Many have been removed in recent years for various reasons. Some have died for lack of water during the long dry Kansas summers.

A large group of children, grand-children, and great grand-children helped the happy couple celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary March 4, 1921. Both lived to celebrate six more anniversaries together. They experienced many droughts, the grasshopper year and many untold hardships of an early pioneer life. Pioneers! The builders of a Nation! These are a few experiences in a personal story that makes the meaning back of those words.

From the Jamestown Optimist, "An Appreciation--When I came to Jamestown early in the spring of 1891, as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, I found W. H. Robinson to be strong in the leadership of that church, the strength of his firm character, the influence of his good example and the excellence of his judgment kept him near the front. He would not allow his friendships to warp his judgment. When E. E. Bales, who was then local agent for the Missouri Pacific, headed a subscription to put a bell in the church, and with others completed that enterprise, Brother Robinson did not contribute because there was an old debt on the parsonage which the church was asked to pay and he thought it ought to be paid first and offered to pay one-tenth of it himself if the church would pay the balance. He was firm in his convictions but never offensive. During the two years that I served Jamestown and Scottsville charges, he never told me whether I preached good sermons, but stood by me all the time, which thing I presume he did for all his pastors as long as he was actively engaged. When he was struck by a train, at the crossing south of his old home, wagon wrecked, one horse killed and himself seriously wounded; the flocking in of his neighbors demonstrated in what esteem they held him. While his wounds were being dressed not a sound escaped him and someone remarked that the anesthetic had taken effect and that he was now asleep, Brother Robinson opened his eyes and said, 'I am not always asleep when my eyes are closed.' About the close of November 1892, a son, Arthur, nineteen years old, died. The following Sunday, when the time for class meeting came, I wondered how it would be with Brother Robinson--whether he could testify as usual. I was not surprised when, although shaken by grief, he arose in his place and testified to the goodness of God and the sufficiency of His grace. His religion was of the normal, healthy kind. He had a fine sense of humor and frequently indulged in harmless jest. Never heard him utter an unclean word. His friendship was one of earth's richest assets and it will be a joy to meet him in heaven--Rev. W. E. Jenkins, Clifton, Kans."

Mr. Robinson wore a full beard all his adult life. In the memory of many of his grandchildren, his hair and beard were always white. Coupled with his ready smile, his resemblance to Santa Claus was an established fact. Both he and his wife were short in stature but overendowed with kindness and hospitality which made their home a favorite gathering place

- for all their many relatives and friends.

Chapter II

NIXON

MOST OF THE INFORMATION for the first thirteen generations of Nixon's was obtained from Clippings from the Baltimore Sun - Nixon Family by Emily Emerson Lantz. Many names of places in Ireland seem misspelled but your author did not feel she should make changes in this material. "As early as 1273 the names of Henry Nix and William Nix appears in the county of Oxford, England, and in 1379 Margaret Nikeson. Again the name Nicson is found in the West Riding of Yorkshire poll tax. In that delightful old book, The History of the Ancient Parish of Leek is found mention of one Robert Nixon, the Cheshire prophet, who flourished during the reign of King Edward IV. This Robert (or William) Nixon was said to be the author of certain prophecies which were current in all parts of the kingdom and to which many learned as well as illiterate people gave credence. Among other prophecies was one that an eagle should visit Vale Royal--the abbey founded by King Edward I, who was the first Earl of Chester of the King's blood--when the heir of that house was to be born, and it is a matter of historic tradition that preceeding the birth of an heir an eagle did come, and remained near the abbey three days, and was seen by hundreds of persons."

"Mr. Charles Henry Hart, of Philadelphia, gives an interesting account of an old sea chest, studded on top with brass nails so as to form the cipher G. N. S., 1684, believed to stand positively for George and Susan Linnett Nixon and the date that this couple started from the Old to the New World of America. This chest is now in the possession of the descendants of Col. John Nixon, the Revolutionary financier of Philadelphia. Mr. Hart further says that in making inquiries in Ireland he found that George Nixon, of county Wexford, Ireland, married Susan Linnett, was a Papist and was deprived of his property; He emigrated in the latter part of the seventeenth century, which fact, in connection with the cipher on the trunk, proves it to have been the property of the above George Nixon, father of Richard Nixon, father of Col. John Nixon, of Philadelphia."

"Acceptance of the Quaker faith led to some of the Nixon family emigrating to America. In 1654 John Nixon, undoubtedly of this family, was Mayor of York, England. The Pennsylvania Magazine, Vol. 23, page 283, says that in a collection of manuscripts in the possession of Friends of Devonshire House, Portfolio No. 5, will be seen a manuscript by an unknown contemporary hand giving valuable notes concerning Oxford Friends in 1654. It tells of a discourse by one of the Quaker ministers and that 'John Nixon, mayor, being there and offended at it, committed him (the speaker) to ye city prison, where he remained over a quarter of a year.' Mayor John Nixon was himself afterward converted to the faith of the Friends and suffered persecution from conscience sake. In 1666 John Nixon, with James Harrison afterward of Pennsylvania; William Janney, John Falkner, Thomas Pott, John Lamb, John Milner and Thomas Britton, was committed to the common gaol of Chester, the former five of them for six months, being convicted of having been at a meeting held at the house of Thomas Janney (the famous Quaker) of Pownall. A large number of Nixons who emigrated to this country were Quakers and followers of William Penn. Many of them came to America with Penn or his representatives, and settled in New Jersey. Some went to Virginia, and among those were Phineas and Mary Nixon, first recorded in the year 1700, who were the great-grandparents of Mr. William Penn Nixon, formerly editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. Their son, Barnaby Nixon, was a Quaker preacher, and a man of considerable note. A number of the same line were distinguished men, which is scarcely to be wondered at, since 12 Nixons were graduated at Oxford, England, before 1741, and 15 between the years 1715 and 1886."

The Nixon family crest of Ireland is as follows: On the point of a sword in pale, a cross pattee ppr.

 The Pownall family of Pownall County, Chester, is an ancient one. According to Brooke, the Somersetshire Herald, members of this family were chamberlaynes to the king as Earls of Chester and on that account in allusion to their office they bore the crest of a Lion's paw holding a golden key. The Pownall arms in full are: Arms: Argent, a lion rampant sable charged in the brest with a cross pattee argent. Crest: A Lion's gomb erect and erased ppr. grasping a key, or from which a chain is reflected on the last. These are also the arms borne by the Pownall line from which descended Thomas Pownall, Governor of New Jersey.

"James Nixon, fired with the spirit of immigration, sold his English property, and with his wife, Sarah (Edwards) Nixon, his four sons and three daughters, went to Ireland to live. He disposed of his property in England to Martin Edwards, of Meerbrook, Staffordshire, by a deed dated June 4, 1682. This was the property which had been given him by his brother, John Nixon, on June 4, 1663. He then went to Ireland leased lands in Bohemeen, County Meath. On Sept. 9, 1687, he bought land from Roger Norrage in Lillamagh, County Mayo. On Dec. 14, 1687, he acquired more land from Matilda Burel. He also had lands in Connaught Province by the act of settlement and expansion of 1692. James Nixon died in Kilmeena, County Mayo, Ireland, Nov. 11, 1694, a very old man and large landed proprietor."

"John Nixon, born 1572, who married Anne Pownall, died Nov. 30, 1629. He left house, cottage, two gardens, an orchard, eight acres of arable land, five acres of meadow and one acre of woodland in Leeke to his son, John, if he would marry Marie Johnson, daughter of his friend, William Johnson. John, being a dutiful son, did marry Marie Johnson, but it must have been for love, not avarice, since later when living in Tullaroon, Kilkenny County, Leinster, Ireland, John and his wife Marie, on June 4, 1663, 'in consideration of affection which he had for his brother, James Nixon, of Leeke, Staffordshire, England', deeded the possessions in Leeke to James, the eldest brother."

children: James, Jeremiah, Thomas, Mary, Jane, Margery, Elizabeth.

Became a soldier of the Commonwealth and claimed by right of war service a grant of land in Kilkenny, to which part of Ireland he emigrated with his family. He was deprived of these estates in Ireland by the "Acts of Settlement". The unjust treatment which John Nixon received in common with many others who had settled in Ireland before 1641 and the persecution which was the result of the subduance of the Irish in 1652, induced him to remove with his family to America. He acquired in the new world 300 acres of land by patent May 13, 1688 made out to John Nickson, of Fenwicks Ferry, N. J. On May 1, 1691, he bought 100 additional acres on Salem Creek from James Viccary. He made his will Apr. 28, 1692. As the Nixons were intimately associated with the Penns in America it is significant fact that in the documents of Oxford City, p. 129, it is stated that Thomas Penn and John Nixon were 'collectors' in Ireland in 1623.

1102. Nixon, Jonathan
 b. May 4, 1729 in Inniskellen, Ireland.
 children: Hugh, James, Jonathan, Mary, Elizabeth, Amey, Richard.
 Jonathan must have come to America first as Prince George's County, Md. records land leased by him to rent for 7 years from Mary Mitchell, widow, 110 acres. Lease dated Dec. 4, 1753. His occupation is listed as leather dresser. His brother, John, was married in Ireland the following year and his two brothers, John and George, must have followed him to America before 1757 as all three are recorded as being in Virginia in that year. Jonathan bought 100 acres in Loudoun County, Virginia, from John Threlkeld of Montgomery County, Md. This land was next to property owned by George Nixon. Later both brothers moved to Montgomery County, Md. There are many legal records of the three brothers and their children in Montgomery and Prince George's Counties in Maryland; nearby Loudoun County, Virginia and Jefferson and Harrison Counties in West Virginia. All three owned plantations in this section as did the Haymonds and Clarks. There were many marriages between these three families in the next two generations. Several owned large plantations and many slaves. They probably owned a great section of what is now Washington, D. C. and adjoining sections north and west. Part of Silver Springs, Md. just north of Washington, D. C. was once part of the plantation "Friendship Enlarged" owned by Jonathan Nixon. His will is recorded in the Addenda, p. 143.

To his son, George, was given 300 acres of land upon which he was living and a saw mill. To his daughter, Elizabeth White, 149 acres of land with houses; to his grandchildren George and Jonah 100 acres of land, to his son John (under age) a plantation, to his daughters, Betty, Hannah and Rebekah, unmarried, and to married daughters, Peggy Harris, Sarah White, Ann Myers and Patty Tavender 200 pounds each. His slaves Sancho and Peter were freed. This will was located and was added later and gave additional information about his children and daughters married names not known before, it is not repeated under his children's names in the following generation. His wife was the daughter of Jonah Combs of Clogh, County Antrim, Ireland.

Chapter III

HAYMOND

THIS HAYMOND FAMILY was very outstanding in early history of Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia. There has been so much published and republished about them, especially concerning Major William Haymond of Virginia, that I shall include here only brief facts and some references for further details, official papers, letters, etc. Considerable material contained herein was taken from The Haymond Family by Henry Haymond, there is also considerable material in the same book that is not included here because lineage of the persons discussed could not be determined. Many parts formerly Virginia are now West Virginia, county names have been changed.

FIRST GENERATION

1100. Haymond, John

b. in England.

m. Margaret---- children: Nicholas, Calder, Hannah, Ann, William, Mary.

He emigrated from England to the colony of Maryland prior to the year 1734, as he had lands patented to him in that year. He came to America for the purpose of building a fine house for a Maryland planter and was selected for that purpose on account of his being an "expert house joiner." After completing his contract, he was pleased with the country, and concluded to remain permanently. It is not known whether he was married in England or after coming to America. They located on a large tract of land called "Constant Friendship," soon after Maryland was settled. His will showed he was richly endowed with many acres and many negroes. He bequeathed to his "dear son," William--after the demise of his "well beloved" wife, Margaret--the large tract of land consisting of 1,000 acres, called "Constant Friendship," forever. William used the land where Morgantown, West Virginia now stands as his corn field. John Haymond lived the latter part of his life one mile south of Montgomery County Court House, Rockville, Md. His will is recorded in Frederick County Library, A. No. 1, Folio 40. More details and will are given in The Haymond Family pages 5-7.

Obituary from Clarksburg, W. Vir., newspaper: "Brue Haymond, aged 68, prominent resident of Clarksburg and author of Borderland Echoes, recently published, died at a local hospital Thursday morning at 4:45 o'clock of kidney trouble. Mr. Haymond was taken to the hospital last Sunday. Mr. Haymond resided at the corner of West Pike and Sixth streets, in the family homestead, with his sister, Mrs. Mord Lewis, who is the only surviving member of the family of Colonel Luther Haymond and Mrs. Delia A. Haymond, who before her marriage was Delia Moore, daughter of Major Thomas P. Moore, a native of Delaware. Bruce Haymond came of purely Revolutionary stock as his great-grandfather, William Haymond, who was born in Maryland in 1740, served as a captain and major in that great struggle, having command of troops raised in Monongalia County, West Virginia. William Haymond also had command of what was known as Pickett's Fort, south of Morgantown, and after the war was over held the office of sheriff, and later when Harrison County was formed, he was appointed county surveyor, holding his office until his death in 1821. Colonel Luther Haymond, father of Bruce Haymond, was born on a farm in Harrison County, Vir., six miles south of Clarksburg, on February 23, 1809. Until about sixteen years of age, he lived on the farm, then became clerk in a store and finally a merchant. Later he became a land surveyor and civil engineer for the state of Virginia, and following this occupation until 1860, when he became cashier of the branch of the Merchant's and Mechanic's Bank of Wheeling, at Clarksburg, but which in 1865 was succeeded by the Merchant's National Bank of Clarksburg. In 1843 and 1844 he represented Harrison County in the state legislature of Virginia, at Richmond, as an old line Whig but at the birth of the Republican party became one of its strongest supporters. Bruce Haymond, for his own amusement, wrote considerable poetry and prose, and then during his spare time would sketch pictures in pencil and ink. He was never married. Mr. Haymond inherited considerable property on South Sixth Street from West Pike to Elk Creek. He attended school at Philadelphia and later entered the state university at Morgantown. Mr. Haymond was a member of a family of eight children, all of whom are deceased except Mrs. Mord Lewis. The brothers and sisters who are deceased are: Wirt Haymond, Henry Haymond, Lee Haymond, Emma Haymond, Ida Haymond, Lewis Haymond and Thomas Haymond. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home, corner of West Pike and Sixth Streets, the Rev. J. T. Carter, rector of the Christ Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery."

Chapter IV

STRATTON, NORRIS, CLARK

AT FIRST GLANCE, it may be confusing to see just how the Stratton and Norris families are connected with the rest of this book. In the first generations it will be found that Abigail Stratton marries Henry Norris and that their daughter, Hannah, marries Richard Clark, Hannah and Richard Clark are the ancestors of many Clarks that marry into the other families herein traced. The Stratton and Norris records from first through sixth generations merely trace the maternal side of the Clark family further back and are recorded in this fashion in order to keep the presentation uniform in this book.

He was immediately attracted by her and they saw a great deal of each other in the next few weeks. Sunday night, Mar. 9, 1845, they "made the most solemn promises to spend our days together." They were married Sunday, Mar. 30, 1845 at 7 o'clock by Dr. Chafing of Rocky Hill, Conn. at his residence. He also states that Mahitabel's father lived in Rocky Hill so that was undoubtedly her home since she was only 19 years of age when they were married. Other entries: "Friday Jan. 30th (1846) this morning about 4 o'clock we had a son born which weighed 9 lbs." "Sunday Feb. 1st, 1846 this is a very pleasant day, our lives and health are yet spared by God's mercy." Frequently he speaks of God's mercy, goodness, and kindness. One of his neighbors often said that he was the finest man that God ever let draw breath. He sang in the church choir, had a beautiful tenor voice. He was a carpenter by trade.

In the book, History of Cloud County, Kansas, compiled by Mrs. E. F. Hollibaugh there is a lengthy sketch: "C. N. Baldwin is a pioneer of Ness County, Kans. He settled in that part of the state in 1873, and for two years made a business of hunting buffalo for their hides... there were but two white settlers between him and Rockies..Indians were numerous. There were only one-half dozen settlers in the entire county, and but two white women. The nearest postoffice was forty miles distant. Mr. Baldwin was one of thirty bachelors in the county, and Miss Emma Clason was one of the two young women...Mr. Baldwin took up government land and made a home there, experiencing all the incidences of frontier life. The settlers were in constant fear of the Indians, and would gather together in the only large stone barn in the country to fortify themselves, momentarily expecting an onslaught of the savages. Rooster feathers were scarce, but the Indians would gather them for decorating purposes and beg for everything in sight. Sometimes asking for salt, saying: 'Pony died, eat him.' Notwithstanding the many drawbacks, Mr. Baldwin prospered there in cattle, sheep and horse raising. Upon several occasions he hauled corn from Salina (one hundred and fifty miles,) to fatten hogs. Becoming restless, he sold his interests in Ness County, in 1880, and after spending three years in Arkansas, came to Cloud County...bought one hundred and sixty acres of Normal School land...He conceived the idea of making molasses, and he not only owed for his land, but went in debt for a sorghum mill. There was much cane raised at that time, and he manufactured hundreds of gallons of molasses that year. The investment proved a good one, and in the year 1898 they made eight thousand gallons and raised one hundred acres of cane. He made a wholesale business of it, raising his own cane instead of grinding for the farmers, and increased the capacity of his mill to four hundred gallons daily, grinding and cooking by steam...in the summer of 1902, he attended the reunion of old veterans at Washington, D. C. The nineteenth Infantry, the regiment Mr. Baldwin enlisted in, was one and one half years later merged into the Second Connecticut Heavy Artillery. He served two years and eleven months. About three months after entering the service he was appointed drummer boy... Mr. Baldwin was among the few old veterans in attendance at Washington, D. C., who participated in the first review in that city in 1865 and the last in 1902. He served his country well, and though a youth, took part in nineteen battles and skirmishes. He was with Grant, after leaving Washington, was in the battle of the Wilderness at Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, across the James River to City Point...He was in battles under both Grant and Sheridan; was with the latter when he made his famous ride from Winchester. He belonged to the Sixth Army Corps, and was with them when they found General Jubal Early in sight of the capital and routed him out through the Shenandoah Valley....They now own two hundred and forty acres of land. With the aid of a glass, Concordia, Scottsville, Kackley, and Jamestown are plainly discernible. The farm is adjacent to the salt marsh, a wild waste of land that in springtime is a field of water, which adds to the beauty of the landscape."

 In Feb. 1906 (about 2 mos. after they were married) Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Ramsey left Jamestown, Kans. in a covered wagon bound for Garden City, Kansas, 300 miles away. Mr. and Mrs. Junius Baldwin and their one year old daughter, Lois, were in a second covered wagon. The trip to their new home in the southwest corner of Kansas, took ten days. The two young couples thoroughly enjoyed their trip, camping along a creek at night and cooking their meals over a camp fire. They had small stoves in their wagons that used either wood or coal, that could be used for cooking in case of cold or wet weather. The weather was beautiful all the way until they were about 40 miles from their destination, near Scott City. That night they cooked their supper on a stove inside a covered wagon, but since they were all young and this was a new experience it was not a hardship but a pleasure. Arlie Ramsey and his future father-in-law, C. N. Baldwin, had made a trip to Garden City by train before the young man married, and had purchased 100 acres of farm land near Garden City. Today this 100 acres is solid with streets and new homes and is within the city limits of Garden City. Only a small tract owned by a dairy remains undivided. Mr. and Mrs. Junius Baldwin bought a large acreage nearby and their children and grandchildren still live on and farm many of these same acres.

In 1909, Arlie Ramsey started working for the Garden City Sugar Co. and soon became their Field Superintendent. This company manufactures sugar from sugar beets and supervises the raising of their own sugar beets on nearby farms. Mr. Ramsey continued at this position from 1909 until 1924, when he and his wife moved to Los Angeles, Calif. In 1942 they returned to Garden City so that they could care for Mrs. Ramsey's mother. The Garden City Sugar Co. offered Mr. Ramsey his old position as their Field Superintendent which he has held until the present. He will reach his seventieth birthday in 1952 and is planning to retire.

Chapter VIII

CLASON

OUR CLASON ANCESTORS have been traced through nine generations in the book Clason Memorial by William B. Lephram, published in 1892. Since I know of only two copies of the above mentioned book, I have recopied the portion that traces the ancestors of my grandmother, Emma V. Clason, No. 439, so that all her descendants now living who care to have this record may have it. All of the following material is quoted from the aforesaid book except for the corrections and additions I have made and have designated each such correction or addition by putting it in parenthesis with the sign * in front of it.

EXPLANATIONS

THE ROMAN numerals opposite a name, indicate the position in the family with regard to age. The figures opposite names indicate position in the genealogy, and wherever a person is referred to, it is by his or her number. The number against a person as he stands in his father's family appears above his name in larger figures, when he has a family record of his own. This arrangement enables one to trace back their lineage with ease. The raised figure above the right of a christian name, shows the generation to which such person belongs, and in each case where the head of a family is named, his line, in parenthesis, is traced back to the immigrant ancestor. Only few abbreviations are herein used: b. stands for born, m. for married, d. for died, and sometimes dau. is used for daughter.

THE FIRST SETTLERS came to Stamford, Conn. in 1640 to arrange for purchasing of the land and planning of the town, but no mention of Stephen Clason is made in the town's records until 1654. Nov. 11, 1654 Stephen Clason was united in marriage with Elizabeth Periment. The records so give her name, which is an unusual one, and except in the case of this woman, the name does not appear on Stamford records.

There is a tradition in the family that Stephen and William McClay were forced to leave Scotland on account of their hostility to the Cromwell government; that they went to France and changed their name to Clayson or Clason the pronunciation of the two words being alike. The name McClay in Scotch, means son of Clay, and transposed would read Clayson. If this were true, it was certainly an ingenious device for disguising their name without essentially changing its etymology. Tradition further says that Stephen came to this country while William returned to Scotland. The tradition is given for what it is worth. The fact is, nothing certain is known about the matter at this time.

Mr. Clason appears to have been a quiet, well-disposed person. His name does not often appear on the records of the town, and never appears to his discredit. Under date of Dec. 18, 1695, the records state: "Per vote and outcry, the town doth sell the fort wood about ye meeting house to Stephen Clason for seventeen shillings and ninepence." Mention is made in the history of the New Haven Colony of a lawsuit in which Stephen Clason of Stamford was a party. His wife, Elizabeth, was tried at Fairchild, Conn. in 1692 for witchcraft. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and other officials were present, and in evidence it was shown that when bound with cords, hand and foot, and thrown into the river, she would float. She was fortunate enough to be acquitted. Brief mention is made of the family from time to time, indicating that some of them continued to remain in the town for more than two centuries.

Stephen Clason, the patriarch, executed his will March 15, 1699. He gave his estate to his wife so long as she remained his widow; and no longer, to sons Samuel and David of Stamford, Conn. and Stephen of Bedford, names also grandson Stephen, son of Jonathan, and granddaughter Sarah, who lived with him. His children all born in Stamford, were as follows:

KEEN

The following is from a letter written Oct., 1951 by James Oliver Keene, No. 1717, p. 108, to your author.

"I have done quite some research on the Keen Family and my conclusions beyond what you have told me, are that the family stems from Jurian Kyn who came in the ship 'Fama' from Sweden, to New Sweden on the Delaware, in 1642. Due to the migration of our family thru Ohio and Indiana under pioneer conditions I have not been able to establish an unbroken chain, but thru similarity of family names and logical dates it appears to me that our James Keen of Lafayette, Ind. was the son of Daniel Keen who was the son of Mons or Mounce Keen. Daniel was born 1755 and married Mary Hoffman or Hopman, 1784. If you will trace this line back you will note the unmistakable similarity of family names. Daniel was the brother of Peter who settled early in Cincinnati and is credited with building the first log cabin there. They probably came west together. Peter later moved to the vicinity of Carmel, Ill., or what was then Palmira, which he founded."

"James Keen's will was filed at Lafayette Aug. 15, 1840, 'being weak in body but sound in mind.' He bequeathed his real and personal property to his wife, Mary (I believe she was his second wife and Thomas was the only child by the first, whose name is unknown.) 'until such time as she may intermarry with another, enabling her to rear, maintain and educate the children that I may leave with her.' The will was probated June 21, 1841 and names the children in the following order: Thomas, Daniel, Pricilla, Elizabeth, Mary, William Christian, Huffman (Hop), Susannah, James and Nathan. Thomas and Daniel were named as executors. It appears that Mary (the mother) migrated to Illinois with Daniel prior to the coming of Thomas, and settled in Oskaloosa Twp. There is a grave in the Nixon Cemetery 3 miles southwest of Iola: 'Mary, wife of James Keen, died 1845, aged 49.' Dan Keene later lived in Fayette County near Farina."

"There is a book Old Settlers of the Wabash Valley by Cox, which mentions James Keene (spelled with an e) as living near Lafayette prior to 1830. The name Keen has gone thru several transitions, such as: Kyn, Kien, Kuehn, Keene, etc. due to first the Dutch influence and then the English influence over the Swedes in America. There is a book called The Kyn Family or Jorian Kyn of New Sweden on the Delaware by Gregory B. Keen. The similarity of family names is unmistakable. Our branch apparently came from Salem County, N. J. to Ohio, then to Indiana."

"I do not have my data in any shape for publication, and I am still trying to tie in the loose ends. There are some Keens around Dayton that I believe may be related, and I may be able to find the missing link there. William Christian Keen, whom I believe to be a brother of our James Keen, lived in Switzerland County, Ind. and was Brig. Gen. of Indiana Militia in 1818, and served many years as Grand Sec. of Masonic Grand Lodge of Indiana."

ROBINSON

Obituary of Louisa Robinson Keen--Louisa Robinson Keen, daughter of Rufus and Mary Robinson, was born January 14, 1850, in Clay County, Illinois, and died November 20, 1935, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. H. Patrick in Villa Grove, Illinois, at the age of 85 years, 19 months and 6 days. Her death was the result of a stroke of paralysis which occurred November 17, while celebrating the birth anniversary of her son, Orville, and the seventieth anniversary of her marriage, the stroke being of so severe a nature that she never regained consciousness after the attack.

When fifteen years of age she was united in marriage with William Keen and became the mother of thirteen children, nine of whom survive her, the survivors being: R. S. Keen of Sulphur, S. D.; Mrs. J. M. Smith of Monticello, Illinois; Mrs. M. H. Patrick, Villa Grove, Ill.; Bert Keen, Decatur, Ill.; Mrs. F. H. Woolridge, Farina, Ill.; Fred Keen, Ursa, Ill.; Orville Keen, Champaign, Ill.;

Vernon Keen, Normal, Ill.; Varden Keen, Green Bay, Wis.

Mrs. Keen is the last of her father's family, a remarkable family whose history dates back to the Mayflower and the Pilgrim Fathers, her ancestor, John Robinson being one of the number and an early and beloved pastor in whose home Christian services were held. This Christian spirit was manifested in the life of the deceased, and one of the pleasant memories for the children, grandchildren and her neighbors and friends will be the figure of Grandma Keen sitting upon the porch of her home lost in the reading of her Bible. Although there was no church of her faith in Farina, she associated herself with the Evangelical Church, and as an attendant there, for seventeen years never missed a session of the Sunday School, the infirmities of age finally making it impossible for her to attend.

During her long life of varied experiences she knew much of pleasure and of sorrow, but an exceptionally happy disposition made it possible for her to live on the sunny side of life, and her belief and trust in God helped her to carry on, although one at a time all her sisters, her father and mother, her husband and four of her children, and most of her girlhood friends preceeded her to the Great Beyond. Sister Keen was not one to boast of her goodness, nor did she ever lay claim to perfection, but like the apostle Paul she could say, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

She has lived her life in the neighborhood of Keen's Chapel and Farina, and as a mother, good wife and neighbor, a Christian, a lover of little children, and as a respected citizen, her deeds of love are a testimonial that needs no comment. We lay her to rest within a short distance of the place of her birth.

Great opportunities never came her way. Small things well and faithfully done, might well be the epitaph inscribed upon the monument that marks her resting place. It could be truthfully said of her, "She was full of kind deeds and good works." She may not be able to bequeath wealth and worldly possessions to her children and grandchildren, but she has left them a heritage of honor, a good name, a loving memory, a life of service, which she has built upon an ancestral record to which she has done credit, and to which she calls her loved ones to hold above reproach and dishonor. Let us remember that one of the wisest of men said: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver or gold."

Aside from those already mentioned, Grandma Keen is survived by 25 grandchildren and by 23 great grandchildren, by many other relatives, and by friends as wide as was her circle of acquaintance.

Funeral services were conducted at Keen's Chapel Friday afternoon by Rev. C. L. Hill, and burial was made in the cemetery by the church.

A letter from William S. Haymond, Harrison County, Vir., Feb. 16, 1850, to Mrs. Maxa Robinson, Clay County, Ill. Postage .25¢. The original letter is in the possession of your author. William S. Haymond is No. 1441, p. 80. His father was Cyrus Haymond, No. 1327, p. 75. Mrs. Maxa Robinson is Maxa Haymond, No. 1331. Mrs. Maxa Robison,

Dear Aunt; -- after the lapse of more than a dozen long years, I feel it my duty, to give you some knowledge of myself, at least, that you may feel that I have not quite forgotten you: - to describe to you as well as I can the condition of ourselves and your friends generally in this part of the country. When you embarked for the west I was young, and not able long to retain those ties of affection so natural of friends, in the morning of youth other objects engrossed my mind, and absorbed my meditation. Though I have often thought of you I have never yet written to you; and I may say also I have never yet received any letter from any relation of mine in the West. About three years ago I dispatched a letter directed to Haymond and Looker Nixon -- I had learned that you and they resided in the same neighborhood; and it was then my intention to open a regular correspondence with some one or more of my friends in that section of country -- but as I never received an answer to the letter (I suppose it was never received) I have until the present neglected to write again. But I sincerely trust that if these lines come to hand, you will treat them with that consideration which you think they deserve. It could be no inconsiderable pleasure & satisfaction for me to hear from you and my other relations in the West. I shall always with pleasure promptly dispatch an answer to any letter which I may receive -- giving any information you desire if in my power. I saw a person a short time since (Mr. George Robison I believe) who stated you desired to have communications with some of us; - I learned from the same source that you were well but he had neglected or had no opportunity to send this information as soon as might have been expected. He stated it was nearly a year since you sent this word.

To give you a history in detail of myself would prohibit me from saying anything else; and an account of myself would perhaps be of less interest than that of others; my youth and other circumstances have made me doubtless less an object of your reflection, than friends of a more mature age & contemporary with yourself; I have been living generally with my Father at home. I have lived a life of almost uninterrupted health -- but so far as yet without a "help mate." I have spent my days principally in reading and the acquisition of knowledge -- though I don't yet pretend to be very wise. I have embarked in the Medical Profession. My Father has been generally well; but my Mother for the last six months has been in a state of poor health. My next Brother Thomas, died about three years ago, as you perhaps heard. He was a young man of great promise. He had been out on a visit to Kentucky, and on his return home was siezed with an epidemic, which shortly terminated his earthly career. Sidney the remaining Brother lives at home with Father. He has grown up to be a man. I have thus given you a brief history of my Father's family -- to enter into a detail of circumstances would be worse than useless. My Father has been living, as he always lived -- though not very rich -- yet a life of quiet and happiness. The march of improvement in this State has progressed very slowly -- Though a vast & perceptible difference exists between the present conditions, and its condition at the time you left it. There is scarcely a hill or valley in Harrison County, that a human being can live on that has not its tenant. But notwithstanding the forest has fell beneath the axe, and internal improvements have been projected to some extent, yet the present condition of the State is not as prosperous by far as it might be. Changes & advancements which have taken place in some parts of the Western States in one year; would require from five to ten years to be accomplished here. I have but little space to dwell on State affairs. And if you are like most other women the less you hear of them the better. Major Thos. Haymond is yet alive. He has failed very much in the last few years; he looks very old. Aunt Rebecca is living yet her health is tolerably good; Aunt Sarah Bond & Uncle Thomas & family are all well. I might mention the death of Lewis Haymond, which happened nearly three years ago, as you likely have heard. Jas. P. Wilson has been dead several years, and Rowana is living with her father. Her oldest son Luther is in California -- the rest of her family are with her - vis. one son & daughter. Lewis Haymond had been married several years before he died, and left four children. He lived on Uncle Tommy's farm.

When you receive this letter, you must stir up the Nixon's, especially Luke & Hame. I expect from their silence they have entirely forgotten me. Tell them I should be glad they would write. The scenes of my earliest youth are inseparably associated with them. I can look back to the days when we were schoolmates together -- when we revelled together in the sports of boyhood -- and can almost live those days over again, on the wings of imagination; -- but reflection puts a sudden stop to these hallucinations -- we are separated by hundreds of miles -- years have rolled by since we met together, their faces once so pleasant and voices so familiar are seen and heard no more. But if we are separated by a few hundred miles -- communication is repice. Lets hear! from each other. It is my wish to hear from all. As I have directed this immediately to you -- you will answer immediately.

It has been my intention from sometime to travel through the western country -- It may happen I will be in the west some time during the present year. I can't promise however as much depends on circumstances not under my control. My Mother's illness may be a preventing cause.

I have thus given you a brief & hasty sketch, of some of the most important information relative to "matters" in Va. Want of space prohibits my saying more -- I will at any future time, if desired (and in my power) -give you all the information you may want.

I remain yours most affectionately
Feb. 16th 1850. Harrison Co. Va. William S. Haymond
